Guide Book of the Japanese Marine Surface Data

Explanation of the micro-film

1. The following data are micro-filmed in chronological order.
 - (a) The Japan Meteorological Agency Data, from 1890 to 1960 inclusive of the data received in August 1960. The data contains data which have been kept at the Kobe Marine Observatory.
 - (b) The old Japanese Navy Data transferred from the Navy to JMA in 1945.
2. Micro-film processing was carried out under the following procedures:-
 - (a) "Ship number" is given, as a principle, alphabetically to the data of each year.
 - (b) This ship number coincides to the Ship Number of the punched cards.
 - (c) Ship number consist of 5 (five) figures. The first two figures represent the 10th and the 1st order of Christian Era. The remaining figures represent ship number of that year.

Example: 60001 The 1st ship of 1960,
 95002 The 2nd ship of 1895.
 - (d) Ship numbers are micro-filmed on the 1st slide, and are also given on the left corner of each slide.
 - (e) As to the JMA data, yearly data start with number 1.

Example: 1960-1 represents the 1st film which contains 1960 data.

Similarly, ship number begin with 001.

Example: 60001 represents the 1st ship data of 1960.
 - (f) As to the old Japanese Navy Data, yearly film number begin with No. 51.

Example: 1935-51 represents the first film which contains 1935 data.
 1937-51 represents the first film which contains 1937 data.

(g) Similarly, as to the old Japanese Navy Data, ship number begin with No. 701.

Example: 35701 represents the data of the 1st ship of 1935.

37701 represents the data of the 1st ship of 1937.

3. It should be noted that though these old Japanese Navy Data had different reporting form with the JMA data, there is a possibility that very few same observations were processed both in the JMA data and the Old Japanese Navy Data.
4. Observations which were reported and/or found after the yearly processing of micro-film, were also micro-filmed in the Annex.
5. The JMA data of 1939 - 1943 have already been punched by the HQ. 1st Weather Wing, United States Air Force in June 1956. And ship numbers are already given in serial number. However, since we do not have a micro-film of these data (we only have the punched cards of these data), we assign new ship numbers to these data and micro-filmed these data. However, punching of these data with new ship numbers was NOT carried out.
6. The List A, List B and List C are put in the same binding. These lists are also micro-filmed with no serial number.
7. Concerning some logs which have ocean current column in back sheet, micro-filming was carried out for both sides of the sheet. In order to avoid skipping of these ocean current data, both sides were micro-filmed even though a sheet in which no ocean current observations were reported.
8. Since Japanese Era were not fully converted into Christian Era, a conversion table of the Japanese Era and the Christian Era is given in the annex.
9. When unreliable or mistaken log were micro-filmed, these were replaced by slides which have stencil of "VOID".
10. Ocean Weather Station data for X and T for the 1947 - 1953 period are NOT micro-filmed. However, the data of OWS T for the period of 1954 - 1959 are micro-filmed.
11. Observations made on board of Japanese antarctic whaling ships and of the Japanese antarctic reserch ship "Soya" are NOT micro-filmed, ALSO, NOT PUNCHED.
12. All films are winded on reel and put into cans. Then, these cans are put into hard box. These box are given with year number such as 1960 - 1 (year of the micro-filmed data), and serial number such as 327.

Explanation of the punched-cards

1. The punched cards have two card-form, namely, the Format 1 and the Format 2.
2. Among the marine surface data now being held at the Japan Meteorological Agency (JMA), the following data are punched this time.

(a) Format 1

Part of the data of	1937
Whole of the data of	1938
"	1944
"	1945
"	1946
"	1947
"	1948
"	1949
"	1950
"	1951
"	1952
Part of the data of	1953

Total : 262,280 cards

(b) Format 2

Part of the data of	1953
Whole of the data of	1954
"	1955
"	1956
"	1957
"	1958
"	1959
Part of the data of	1960

Total : 737,739 cards

(c) Grand Total

Grand total : Format 1 + Format 2 = 1,000,019 cards

The 1953 data are divided into two parts and are punched with two card forms of Format 1 and Format 2, because in 1953 a reporting form was changed by regulation. The data for 1939 - 1943 are not punched because these data were already punched by the HQ. 1st Weather Wing, U.S. Air Force in June, 1956. It should be noted that the so-called old Japanese Navy Data are NOT punched for this time.

3. Details of the two card forms are as follows:-

Format 1: The details of this form are given in the work sheet made by the HQ. 1st Weather Wing, in June 1956. This work sheet is reproduced in this Guide Book.

Format 2: The details of this form are same with the FM 21. A Code. As to the details of the FM 21. A Code, please refer "Weather Reports, stations, codes and transmissions; Volume B, Codes. WMO-No.9 TP.4" published by the World Meteorological Organization. Classification of ship in the Format 2 is determined after the work sheet of the Format 1. In other words, "Classification of ship" in Format 1 is valid for Format 2.

4. All punched cards are arranged by year. Yearly data are arranged by ship number. Sequence of the data is as follows:-

Format 1: 1944, 1945, 1946, 1947, 1948, 1949, 1950, 1951, 1952, 1953, 1938, and 1937.

Format 2: 1959, 1958, 1953, 1954, 1955, 1957, 1956, and 1960.

5. Punched-cards are first put into a small case which contains approximately 1,800 cards. Then, five of these small cases are put into larger hard box. For example, Hard Box No. 1 contains five small cases with the number of 1-1, 1-2, 1-3, 1-4, and 1-5. The box contains the data with the ship number of 59001 - 59033. And 8,794 cards are contained in this box.

6. The data which are micro-filmed but NOT punched are as follows:-

(a) Unreliable data.

(b) The log sheets in which the observations are made either in January or December and contain a small portion of December or January data as their continuation. These small portions are ignored because of operational difficulties, since ship number is determined independently for each year.

7. It should be noted that Swell Scales are changed from 7-Scale into 9-Scale since 1953. And in the period of 1947 - 1950, only swells are reported in 9-Scale with Douglas Scale.

8. Observations made at the Ocean Weather Stations X and T for the period of 1947 - 1953 are NOT punched. However, observations made at T for the period of 1954 - 1959 are punched with the Format 2.

9. Observations made on board of Japanese antarctic whaling ships and the Japanese antarctic research ship "Soya" are NOT punched.

However, special observations were taken between these hours at the discretion of the observer.	01 -24	Local Mean Time was computed once daily as follows: The Local Mean Time of the ship changed continuously because of the position change of the moving ship. The time used on the ships' logs for any given day, however, was the Local Mean Time for one of the meridians which the ship was reckoned to cross during that day. The particular meridian selected for computing the Local Mean Time was sometimes the mid-point of the reckoned meridional distance for that day and sometimes the meridian which was crossed at 00 OMT. The logs do not distinguish which of these methods was use to calculate Local Mean Time.

58-59	Speed of Ocean Current	00	No current for past 24 hours	Normally punched on 1200 LMT observation card only.	Nil,	Total distance that ship drifts in the 24 hour period preceding the time of observation. Normally reported once daily at 1200 LMT, on the back side of the ships weather log therefore, daily observations for all other hours will not normally contain Speed of Ocean Current. When Speed of Ocean Current is recorded in knots, this distance is multiplied by 24 to convert to code before punched. Occasionally the ships' drift is not recorded for a given day.
		01-99	Ships' drift in nautical miles per day. An x overpunch in column 58 indicates that 100 nautical miles are to be added to the punched value.		Whole Nautical miles or knots.
